What is Marysville ACS?

Auxiliary Communications Service

The Marysville Auxiliary Communications Service (ACS) is a group of registered volunteers that can assist the City with emergency communications during a disaster or planned event. This group of amateur radio operators train and exercise on disaster operations, meet regularly, and check in on a weekly net. Watch the video on the left to learn more about ACS from members Allan (K7NWR) and Gordon (KK7CEA)!

Upcoming Disaster Planning Workshops Wednesday, February 18th 1pm-2pm or Wednesday, March 25th 5:30pm-6:30pm

Join us! Free classes at the Marysville Community Center; 1015 State Ave.

Marysville Ready Rewind: February 1916 Snow Event

Did you know? In 1916, Marysville had over 40 inches of snowfall in just a 3 day period! While this was an extreme event for our area, we should still prepare for any snow that we might see today. Get ready by planning ahead, gathering supplies, and knowing where to find updates.
